HEADQUARTERS FORTIETH DIVISION
OFFICE OF THE COMMANDING GENERAL

To the Officers and men of the 40th Division:

Again the 40th Division has entered Federal service, and moves forward on the mission of intensive preparation to take its stand, shoulder to shoulder, with our comrades in arms, for the defense of our nation, our ideals, and our chosen way of life and liberty.

This responsibility is a challenge to each and every officer and man of the Division which can only be met by sincere, willing and diligent effort and application to duty. The Division can be no better than the officers and men who comprise it; therefore, each individual contributes to the Division just what he makes of himself, his squad, and his company or battery.

By our concerted effort, we will attain the objective which has long inspired the loyal group of citizen-soldiers who, throughout the years of waning general interest in the military, steadfastly gave of their time and effort that the 40th Division might be ready to answer the challenge of the day which is now upon us.

I am proud of the officers and men of the 40th Division, and am confident that this Division will be one of the finest in the service.

HEADQUARTERS FORTIETH DIVISION
OFFICE OF THE COMMANDING GENERAL
CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA

To the Personnel of The 40th Infantry Division:

Inducted in March, doubled in strength during June and July, seasoned by participation in the 1941 Fourth Army Maneuvers, the Division now faces further intensive training and testing.

The entire operation of the Division during the Washington Maneuvers was characterized by soldierly execution. I have from many observers, military and civilian, extreme laudatory remarks on the efficiency and businesslike conduct of individuals of all ranks and grades during that maneuver, and when it was completed the Division was in excellent condition and anxious to carry on.

I find high morale in the Division, I have found nothing but the greatest eagerness and desire to excel.

The tasks which lie ahead of the Division will be arduous. I feel that no matter what they may be, the report will always be: "The Fortieth Infantry Division is On The Way!"

HISTORY OF THE 40TH DIVISION

GOVERNOR LELAND STANFORD AND STAFF

"Each generation gathers together the imperishable soldiers of the past, and increases them by new sons of light, alike radiant with immortality."

In recording the history of the 40th Division, United States Army, one must reckon back to the stirring "Days of '49"—"Gold Rush Days." Many of the present-day units of the 40th Division can trace their beginnings to independent bands of citizen-soldiers—"Militia Men," whose exploits and deeds of valor figure so prominently in the "Winning of the West."

In the "Days of '49," boundaries of states were very elastic, and little heed was given to border-lines. Early-day companies of the National Guard were organized principally in towns adjacent to the mining camps, and were far-reaching in authority.

The early-day National Guard organizations of California, Utah, and Nevada, were similarly constituted, and, as today, served in close harmony, with high purpose and mutual understanding. It is therefore more than mere coincidence that the 40th Division, since its organization, has included units of the National Guard of the states of California, Utah and Nevada.

In terms of miles, the distance from Sutter's Creek to San Luis Obispo, California, is perhaps but one day's march for modern, mechanized units of the 40th Division

—perhaps well within the three hundred mile limit. But the 40th Division has traveled many more miles in its scope of action and years of activation than is represented in mileage from its place of origin to the present Command Post.

In terms of vehicles, many have been the types since the days of the "Covered Wagons," or "Prairie Schooners," of the "Days of '49," to the soldier-termed "Jeep" or motor truck of 1941.

In terms of soldiers the types have run true to form within the ranks of the 40th Division throughout the years of its existence. The names of countless outstanding Americans are inscribed on the "Rolls of Honor" of the 40th Division.

Earlier-day Guardsmen of California, Nevada and Utah, served the "Community, State and Nation," not only in handling emergencies at home, but they followed The Flag across the Seven Seas, and saw service in many foreign lands.

The problems of the early days must have been difficult indeed. Hostile and disgruntled Indians were a source of trouble, and frequent uprisings had to be quelled. Outlaws and robbers, especially in the mountain areas were also frequently troublesome. Early-day labor troubles necessitated the "calling out" of the National Guard frequently.

Officers of the Second Battalion, California Heavy Artillery.

Service to stricken communities, notably during the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, and the Long Beach earthquake of 1933, are but two instances in their long history when California National Guardsmen responded to the call of humanity at a time of great emergency.

National Guardsmen of California, Utah and Nevada, served during the Spanish-American War of 1898, the Philippine Insurrection of 1899, Mexican Border service of 1916, and during the World War, 1917 to 1918.

To compile a composite history of the various organizations of the 40th Division, wherein the glorious deeds and accomplishments of the personnel would be fittingly recorded, would be indeed a task of great magnitude. Elsewhere will appear Historical and Pictorial Reviews of the Regimental Organizations of the 40th Division.

From these strong-hearted, sturdy Guardsmen of yesterday—their deeds and accomplishments, the present-day 40th Division, United States Army, has inherited a splendid morale and esprit-de-corps.

The 40th Division, United States Army, came into being during World War days. The war-time history of the division has been handed down to posterity in the form of a priceless report of its "War-Time" Adjutant and Inspector.

The imperishable "BOOK" of the 40th Division, United States Army, is, therefore, the following official report:

THE 40TH ("SUNSHINE") DIVISION, A. E. F.

By Lieutenant Colonel Ray I. Follmer, U. S. A.

Adjutant and Inspector, 40th Division, A. E. F.

(For 41 years a member of the California National Guard)

The 40th ("SUNSHINE") Division was organized at Camp Kearney, near San Diego, California, September 16, 1917, and was composed of National Guard organizations of the states of ARIZONA, CALIFORNIA, COLORADO, NEVADA, NEW MEXICO and UTAH. The Division enjoyed a continuity of policy and tradition, due to the unbroken command of Major General Frederick S. Strong, United States Army.

Major General Frederick S. Strong organized the 40th Division, and was its beloved Commander during its World War days. An organization reflects its leader. General Strong was an accomplished soldier, an experienced administrator, a considerate and cultured gentleman of unblemished character and high ideals. He imparted his principles and spirit to his command. Especially and unceasingly was he solicitous for the physical and moral welfare of the men of his Division, in no way abating discipline, but constantly seeking to obtain for his men the best condition of life under the circumstances. The personnel of the 40th Division, old and new, will retain an abiding loyalty and affection for their "War-Time" Commanding General.

HISTORICAL SKETCH

There is a vast difference between 27,000 men and a Division. A Division is a living organism partaking a distinct individuality and a particular spirit. Napoleon, perhaps the greatest idealist in history, stated that "In war the MORAL is to the PHYSICAL, as three to one." Morally, a Division is a team developed to the highest state of technical efficiency, charged with the loftiest aspirations and the most intense patriotism, and bound with a confraternity of spirit which can only come from service of a great cause.

What was the composition of the "SUNSHINE" Division? It was the bone and sinew of the Great West, full of boldness, replete with a spirit of initiative and practicality. ARIZONA, CALIFORNIA, COLORADO, NEVADA, NEW MEXICO, and UTAH! Each of these states, in territory about two-thirds the size of France, is set aloft on the great Rocky Mountain Plateau that tops the American Continent, or borders the broad Pacific. These men of the 40th Division partook of the character of the country from which they came. They were of unsurpassed physique, hardy and enduring. They came from the ranches and the mines, from forests and the factory, from the vineyards and the marts of commerce. Every practical handicraft, every business, every learned profession was represented, and an analysis of its personnel would show the Division to contain all elements that go to make up our highly intricate, modern civilization. And it is well that it is so, because modern warfare is simply the application of all means and force of civilization, in conflict of nations between nations.

It is difficult, in retrospect, to visualize the eagerness and intensity which men brought to the problem of training after the outbreak of the World War. The 40th Division had a great advantage over many units in the fact that the National Guard organizations which formed its foundation, had attained a high degree of efficiency during the mobilization of the National Guard on the Mexican Border. Favored by the climate of Southern California, they did not lose training owing to inclement weather, an advantage enjoyed by no other Division in the Army.

The great Aviation Camps at North Island were available for range work with the Artillery Brigade, and the Liaison Training with the Infantry. None can overstate the degree of enthusiasm, the persistency of effort, the completeness of cooperation, that combined to build the high esprit which characterized the 40th Division. How much loyalty, how much earnest effort were poured out in unstinted measure to forge a weapon that should be worthy of the country and its section, only those can realize who shared in the labor, the training, and the responsibility.

The entire Division looked forward with confidence and anticipation to the supreme moment when the Division should enter the conflict, in vindication of the high cause to which it was summoned.

But, by the fortunes of war, the Division was called to a role of abnegation and self-sacrifice, more difficult than the trials of the hardest campaign. After the receipt of 9,000 recruits from Camp Lewis and Camp Funston, in October and November, 1917, the Division was at war strength, and its training as a Division got under way.

In January, 1918, the first considerable reduction in this war-time strength came by way of a requisition from the War Department for 1,200 men for the Engineers. Only trained men were supplied and transferred January 26th to Washington Barracks, and designated as the 20th Engineers, and the 534th Pontoon Train.

And then, in April, 1918, a requisition was received for 1,500 trained Infantrymen, which call was filled with men, who, for the most part, had seen service with the old National Guard units on the Mexican Border. These men were transferred to the 42nd ("RAINBOW") Division.

During May and June, the 40th Division, like nearly every other Division then in the United States, was called on to furnish all trained Infantrymen and Artillerymen it could possibly sacrifice, for immediate service—over-seas. In response to this call, 5,000 Infantrymen and 1,500 Artillerymen, all of whom had been over eight months in training, were supplied. These men, of the June DRAFT, were among the best ever trained by the Division, and subsequently proved their mettle with the Divisions they joined, with a glorious record of service.

When the 40th Division arrived in France, August 24, 1918, the enemy had completed a great series of smashing drives which started on March 21, 1918, and ended with his last, fatal attack of July 15, 1918.

The Supreme Allied Command had instituted its counter-offensive between Soissons and Chateau-Thierry on July 18th, and was planning the chain of furious assaults which were to break Germany's threat, and end the war.

Other Divisions had been fortunate in arriving in France earlier, thus preceding the 40th Division to battle. In playing their high role, they had suffered great casualties, and there arose the problem of filling the depleted ranks. The cruel but essential solution was that our "SUNSHINE" Division (in the role of First Army Replacement Division), had to make a vicarious sacrifice, and was denied the long, anticipated reward of entering the battle line as a Division.

That Combat Divisions "On the Line" might carry on the fight, 11,000 of our Division had been stripped from us to help other Divisions write their pages of history. At first, the bitterness of our disappointment was supreme and unallayed. But, we played the game, and did with loyalty what we were ordered to do. We were disappointed . . . we always will be. Nothing can take away the keen disappointment of the individual officer and soldier whom fate denied the privilege of striking a direct blow; but will not the true analysis show that the "SUNSHINE" Division contributed a full share to the success of our nation's arms, and helped write the glorious pages of history of those Divisions who served in the battle-line?

When American troops barred the way to the enemy at Chateau-Thierry, men of the 40th Division were there.

With the 26th ("YANKEE") Division, replacements from the 40th Division stood in the trenches in the Toul Sector; fought in Foch's epic battle of mid-July; stormed the Bois des Eparges at the Battle of St. Mihiel; raced down the Grande Tranchee de Galons on the famous night march that brought junction between the two American armies in attack, and cut off thousands of German prisoners, and fought to the last in the operations of the 26th Division, North of Verdun, which ended with the Armistice, November 11.

Our machine-gunners gained the highest commendation of their commanders in the 32nd ("RED-ARROW") Division, composed originally of the National Guard of Michigan and Wisconsin; they fought with this Division in its brilliance and glorious storming of the Kriemhilde-Stellung line, the last organized line of the enemy defense, south of the Meuse.

Four thousand of our beloved "SUNSHINERS" went to fill up the ranks of the 77th ("METROPOLITAN") Division, from New York, and drove forward with the 77th Division in its remarkable advance through the Argonne Forest, to the left bank of the Meuse, southeast of Sedan. The officers of this Division testified in glowing terms to the splendid deportment of these men from the West.

One thousand "SUNSHINE" replacements went to the 81st ("WILDCAT") Division; 2,000 replacements went to the 28th ("KEYSTONE") Division from Pennsylvania; 2,000 each to the 80th ("BLUE RIDGE") Division, and the 82nd ("ALL-AMERICAN") and the 89th ("MIDDLE WEST") Divisions.

In all—the "SUNSHINE" Division sent more than 27,000 replacements to the Combat Divisions of the A. E. F.

Our officers and soldiers were with the famed "Lost Battalion" of the 77th Division, in the Argonne. Captain Nelson M. Holderman, of Company L, of the old Seventh California, and Captain Leo A. Strome, of Company K, of the old Seventh California, served as Company Commanders in the Lost Battalion. Both were wounded in action, Captain Holderman suffering severe wounds on four successive days, October 4, 5, 6 and 7, 1918.

For "Conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty," Captain Holderman was awarded the Congressional MEDAL OF HONOR. He was also awarded the PURPLE HEART MEDAL, and received decorations for valor from France and Belgium.

Captain Strome was awarded the SILVER STAR CITATION for valor, and the PURPLE HEART MEDAL.

Both Captains Holderman and Strome were awarded the California State Medal for valor and distinguished service while serving with the California National Guard.

Another "SUNSHINER," Captain Arthur King, of Company C, old Seventh California, was awarded the DISTINGUISHED SERVICE CROSS, while serving with the First Division, A. E. F.

Many other "SUNSHINERS" served with honor and distinction, with the Combat Divisions of the A. E. F. Many paid the supreme sacrifice in service to their country on the field of battle.

We of the 40th Division saw Division after Division leap forward to the battle, advance gloriously against stout resistance and enormous obstacles, and retire from the line with great gaps in their ranks. The battle must go on. The enemy must not be given a moment. Two hundred replacements here—three thousand replacements there—in groups of hundreds and thousands—they were thrown into these gaps—these men of our "SUNSHINE" Division. Well trained, as we knew them to be, and inspired by an especially high morale that characterized our Division, these "SUNSHINE" replacements brought confidence and encouragement with them, wherever they were sent. Their graves are on every battlefield that bears witness to the valor of the American Army in Europe. As they carried away from us our abiding and affectionate interest, we knew that they bore with them an abiding faith and affectionate loyalty to the organization that trained them and sent them forth to battle.

It is of record that the 40th "SUNSHINE" Division ranked seventh among the Combat Divisions of the A. E. F., in casualties, 2,587 being killed in battle; 11,596 were wounded in action; 70 taken prisoners, and 103 died at Camp Kearney Base Hospital.

John A. Sutter, pioneer of 1839, who founded the City of Sacramento.

In no grudging sense, in no spirit of narrow sectionalism, do we say it, but, when our countrymen from other sections of these United States rightly acclaim the high deeds of the Divisions that were associated with their communities, we suggest that it be remembered that the lives of thousands of the incomparable sons of the Great West were laid down to write their pages of history.

Not in a spirit of detraction, not in a spirit of criticism, but in the spirit of fraternity, we emphasize the fact that the great military traditions established in the World War which will be treasured in New England, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, and in many other sections, were created in part by men of the "SUNSHINE" Division, from ARIZONA, CALIFORNIA, COLORADO, NEVADA, NEW MEXICO, and UTAH.

RAY I. FOLLMER,

Lieutenant Colonel, United States Army,
Adjutant and Inspector, 40th Division, A. E. F.

The signing of the Armistice, November 11, 1918, brought about a cessation of hostilities. Peace, however, was not officially declared until a Joint Resolution, passed by the Congress of the United States, signed by President Harding, July 2, 1921; signed at Berlin, August 25, 1921, by United States and German representatives; ratified by the German National Council, September 17, 1921, and, finally, ratified by the United States Senate, October 18, 1921.

The general feeling after the World War throughout the United States was that the war had ended, and enthusiasm in military affairs was hard to arouse. Veteran National Guardsmen of California, Utah and Nevada, had different ideas, and as early as December, 1918, new companies were rapidly formed. It was not until 1920 and 1921, however, that organizations—by regiments—were reorganized by direction of the Adjutants General

Colonel Nelson M. Holderman, one of the two men to ever receive the California "Medal of Valor." While Captain, 160th Infantry (Seventh California Infantry), California National Guard, he was transferred to the 308th Infantry, 77th Division, actively participating in the operations of the "Lost Battalion" and, although severely wounded October 4, 5 and 7, and suffering from great pain, distinguished himself by his courageous conduct above and beyond the call of duty, which was an inspiration to the men of this command.

Lieutenant Colonel Leo A. Strome, one of the two men to ever be awarded the California "Medal of Valor." While Captain, 160th Infantry (Seventh California Infantry), California National Guard, he was transferred to the 308th Infantry, 77th Division, where he actively participated in the operation of the "Lost Battalion" and although severely wounded distinguished himself by continuing to lead and encourage the officers and men of his command.

of these far-Western States. Again—the citizen-soldiery responded to the call of the "Community, State and Nation," and once more armories and drill halls resounded to the tramp of marching men, and the sharp rhythmic snap of rifles carrying on in the manual of arms.

On June 18, 1926, by War Department General Order, the 40th Division was reorganized, with Headquarters at Berkeley, California. Units of the National Guard of California, Utah and Nevada were assigned to the newly organized "SUNSHINE" Division.

Major General David S. Barrows commanded the 40th Division from June 18, 1926, to June 30, 1937.

Major General Walter P. Story assumed command of the 40th Division, July 7, 1937.

In 1937, the Headquarters of the 40th Division was moved to Los Angeles.

Encampments of the 40th Division have been held regularly since 1927, when the Division assembled at Del Monte, California.

On July 4, 1928, Camp San Luis Obispo was officially dedicated by Brigadier General Richard E. Mittelstaedt, Adjutant General, State of California. The original site included 2,989.67 acres, owned by the State of California, and 1,200 acres, leased.

During this present-day period of Army expansion, the facilities at Camp San Luis Obispo, have been increased to facilitate the operations and training of the 40th Division at its present war-strength of 18,000 officers and soldiers.

The components of the 40th Division are as follows:

Headquarters and Medical Detachment; Headquarters Detachment; Medical Department Detachment; Headquarters Company; 40th Military Police Company; 40th Signal Company; 115th Ordnance Company.

79th Infantry Brigade: 159th Infantry; 184th Infantry.
80th Infantry Brigade: 160th Infantry; 185th Infantry.

65th Field Artillery Brigade: 143rd Field Artillery;
145th Field Artillery; 222nd Field Artillery.

115th Engineers.
115th Medical Regiment.
115th Quartermaster Regiment.

THE ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES

The Constitution gives to Congress the power to raise and support armies and designates the President as Commander-in-Chief. By the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as later amended by other laws, Congress constituted the Army of the United States in six components: the Regular Army, the National Guard of the United States, the National Guard while in the service of the United States, the Officers' Reserve Corps, the Organized Reserves, and the Enlisted Reserve Corps.

Each component of the Army consists of officers and enlisted men divided into combat arms, such as the Infantry, Air Corps, and Field Artillery, and into services, such as the Medical Department and the Quartermaster Corps. Each arm, service, and bureau has a "Chief" in Washington. The arms, services, and bureaus are as follows:

ARMS

Infantry, Cavalry, Tank Corps, Coast Artillery, Air Corps, Field Artillery, Corps of Engineers, Signal Corps.

SERVICES

Adjutant General's Department, Inspector General's Department, Judge Advocate General's Department, Quartermaster Corps, Finance Department, Medical Department, Chemical Warfare Service, Corps of Chaplains.

BUREAU

National Guard Bureau.

In general the arms do the actual fighting in battle, and the services assist the arms by supplying them with food, clothing, weapons, ammunition, and other supplies, and by furnishing transportation, medical care, and other assistance.

Some of the services, however, may come into direct contact with the enemy and then have to fight for their own protection. On the other hand, a few of the arms, particularly the Corps of Engineers, and the Signal Corps, may not only engage directly in combat with the enemy but furnish certain special supplies to the other arms.

A few of the services are composed entirely of Army officers; the other arms and services consist of both officers and enlisted men, and are organized into units of different sizes running from squads of a dozen men or less up to regiments or brigades of several thousand men. The largest unit completely organized in peace is the division, which is composed of infantry or cavalry and other arms and services. Still larger units are, of course, organized for maneuvers or in our war-time Army corps, made up of several divisions and additional troops, and field armies which may be formed of several corps and other troops.

THE DIVISION

There are two types of Infantry Divisions—the triangular (streamlined) division and the square division. The Triangular Division (streamlined), consists of 12,500 officers and soldiers; the Square Division (Infantry), 18,500 officers and soldiers; the Cavalry Division, 10,000 officers and soldiers.

THE CORPS

The Corps—often called "Army Corps," to distinguish it from arms and services which have the word "corps" as part of their names, such as the Corps of Engineers and the Coast Artillery Corps, has a strength of 65,000 to 90,000 officers and soldiers. It is composed of infantry divisions of both types or of cavalry divisions, and of additional brigades, regiments, and battalions, from many different arms and services. It contains officers of all arms and services.

THE ARMY

The Army—often called "Field Army," to distinguish it from the whole Army of the United States, has a war strength of approximately 200,000 to 400,000 officers and soldiers. It is composed of corps, and of additional units from several arms and services.

For strategical military purposes, the United States is divided into four Army Areas, and for military administrative purposes, into Nine Corps Areas.

THE FOURTH ARMY

The Fourth Army consists of the 7th Corps Area, with Headquarters at Omaha, Nebraska, and the 9th Corps Area, with Headquarters at San Francisco, California.

THE NINTH CORPS AREA

The following states are included in the 9th Corps Area: Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, Arizona (in part), California and Alaska (in part).

THE 40TH DIVISION

The present-day 40th Division, United States Army, was inducted into the Federal Service March 3, 1941, as it is now constituted, made up for the most part by the National Guard of California, Utah and Nevada. The commissioned personnel has been increased by additional officers from the Officers' Reserve Corps. Since June, the enlisted strength of the Division has been increased by the addition to the ranks of Selective Service men. The 40th Division is now practically at its war-strength of 18,500 officers and soldiers.

The 40th Division has practically lost its identity as a "National Guard Division," being in every sense of the word—"In the Army." And, that is as it should be. Rapid Army expansion has increased the tempo of all things, and the 40th Division personnel has kept apace with the trend of events.

The commissioned personnel of the 40th Division has, by modern methods—fitness and selection—passed on to higher grades. Junior and Senior officers alike have received the benefits of Army Service and Technical and Specialists Schools. The enlisted personnel, likewise, especially the non-commissioned officers, have also become highly "specialized" by attendance at Professional and Specialty Schools.

Promotion "from the ranks" has created a high state of morale, and many "Shavetails"—Second Lieutenants—of the 40th Division began their military career in the "rear rank" of their old National Guard Company.

The personnel, in its entirety, is, today, as it was in the beginning, and will continue to be so during the "March of Time." These "Sunshiners" of today resemble in every way the old National Guardsmen of yesteryear. Father and son, alike, have seen service in the 40th Division of yesterday, and are serving again today.

These "Sunshiners" of today, coming as they do from these far-Western States, have grown up in the spirit of the West—hardy and enduring. They have enjoyed life to its fullest, and with every facility constantly at hand for their mental and moral and physical well-being, they now stand today at the height of their manly glory.

MAJOR GENERAL WALTER P. STORY

Major General Walter P. Story, who commanded the 40th Infantry Division from June 28, 1937, through its initial period of induction into Federal service in 1941 until taken seriously ill in June, 1941, was born in the State of Montana, December 18, 1883, of pioneer stock whose origin dates back to 1640 in Massachusetts.

As a beginning to his distinguished service in World War I, General Story fathered what was then Battery A of the California Field Artillery (later Battery A, 143rd F. A.), recruited the Battery, raised funds to build an armory and stables in Los Angeles.

Shortly after discharge from World War I service, Captain Walter P. Story began devoting his energies toward reorganizing the National Guard of Southern California. He first organized a separate infantry company, later evolved it into the Third Separate Battalion. From this nucleus he formed the 160th Infantry, and as its Colonel commanded it for several years, inaugurating accredited schools directed by Army Instructors, and candidate classes through which enlisted men showing ability and initiative could become junior officers. He founded the 160th Infantry Guardsman, which continued in publication until discontinued to make possible the state-wide organ, The California Guardsman.

Upon formation of the 40th Division General Story took the Fort Leavenworth examinations before a Regular Army Board at the Presidio of San Francisco, passed with a high average and was assigned to command the 80th Brigade, a command which he held for 11 years until commissioned Major General and assigned to command the 40th Division in July, 1937.

General Story was a member of the Class of 1903, Shattuck Military Academy, graduate of the Army War College G-2 Course, the Ninth Corps Area Command and Staff Course and the General Officers' Class, Fort Benning, Georgia.

Only a few days after his arrival at home station from the Army War College in 1933 disaster struck the Long Beach area and General Story was placed in complete charge of the situation. The efficiency with which this duty was accomplished clearly indicated his leadership and ability to organize and command. Various types of special mobile equipment developed by the General through his experiences during this period have since proved their utility and necessity.

General Story brought to the military service a lifetime of experience as a businessman and an executive. The General's civic record is as outstanding as his military record. Citizen, soldier and gentleman, prominent member of the Los Angeles community, much of the General's life has been spent in service to his fellowman.

The spirit of General Story has been reflected down through the ranks of the 40th Division. Having risen from a private in the rear rank to Commanding General he possesses an unusually deep understanding of the military. This understanding has been a clearly defined influence in the high morale of the 40th Division.

BRIGADIER GENERAL ERNEST J. DAWLEY

Brigadier General E. J. Dawley, present commander of the 40th Infantry Division, was born in Wisconsin on February 17, 1886.

His army career started in 1906 when he entered the United States Military Academy. Upon graduation four years later he was commissioned a Second Lieutenant of Field Artillery.

Prior to the World War he had seen service in the Philippines and various points in the continental limits of the United States, and in 1916 he served with the Punitive Expedition in Mexico with the Sixth Field Artillery. When the war broke out, General Dawley, then First Lieutenant, was with the Seventh Field Artillery at Fort Sam Houston, with which organization he went to France. He became a Captain in May, 1917.

After arriving in France he attended the French Artillery School at Fontainebleau and later became Executive Officer at the Samur Artillery School. On February 7, 1918, he was promoted to Major (temporary) and in May of that year joined and served on the Staff of the First Corps Artillery. In July he took command of the First Battalion, 12th Field Artillery, a part of the Second Division, and in August, 1918, he was assigned to the G-3 Section of the General Staff of the First Army. On September 18, 1918, he was promoted to the grade of Lieutenant Colonel.

Later he served as G-3 of the Second Army Artillery and with the 16th Field Artillery of the Fourth Division. On December 1, 1918, he was appointed to the G-3 Section GHQ.

In March, 1919, General Dawley was appointed a member of the Field Mission to the Baltic States for the Peace Conference, remaining on that duty until September of that year.

Upon his return from overseas he served in the Department of Tactics at the U. S. Military Academy, remaining there until July, 1924.

General Dawley is a graduate of the Advanced Course, Field Artillery School, 1926, and the Command and General Staff School, Fort Leavenworth, 1927. From 1927 to 1930 he served in the office of the Chief of Field Artillery.

From August, 1930, to August, 1933, he commanded the Second Battalion, 76th Field Artillery at the Presidio of Monterey. He attended the Army War College for the 1933-1934 Course. In 1934 he held the post of the Field Artillery Instructor at the Infantry School.

Upon leaving the Infantry School in July, 1939, he commanded the 82nd Field Artillery, a part of the First Cavalry Division.

On October 1, 1940, he was appointed a Brigadier General, U. S. A. (temporary), and on October 25, 1940, assumed command of the Seventh Division Artillery. He was attached to the 40th Infantry Division June 23, 1941, as temporary commander, and was assigned as Division Commander September 2, 1941. He was appointed a Major General October 1, 1941.

SOLDIER

The stars swing down the western steep,
And soon the east will burn with day,
And we shall struggle up from sleep
And sling our packs and march away.

In this brief hour before the dawn
Has struck our bivouac with flame
I think of men whose brows have borne
The iron wreath of deadly flame.

I see the fatal phalanx creep
Like death, across the world and back,
With eyes that only strive to keep
Bucephalus' immortal track.

I see the legion wheel through Gaul,
The sword and flame on hearth and home,
And all the men who had to fall
That Caesar might be first in Rome.

I see the horde of Genghis Khan
Spread outward like the dawn of day
To trample golden Khorassan
And thunder over fair Cathay.

I see the grizzled grenadier,
The dark dragoon, the gay hussar,
Whose shoulders bore for many a year
Their little emperor's blazing star.

I see these things, still I am slave
When banners flaunt and bugles blow,
Content to fill a soldier's grave,
For reasons I shall never know.

San Luis Obispo County lies between the 35th and 36th parallels of latitude. It occupies about ninety miles, nearly one-tenth of California's ocean front. Beginning at the mouth of the Santa Maria River, the northern boundary of the neighboring county of Santa Barbara, the shore line winds northwesterly to the sixth parallel, the southern limit of Monterey County. Viewed from the ocean, during the long rainless summer months, in brilliant sunshine and under cloudless skies, with its long stretches of beach, laced and spangled with the slow-reaching waves, with its boundary walls of beautifully colored hills, it is a fairy spectacle.

During the half century which followed the landing of Columbus, the armed hosts of Spain quite thoroughly explored the vast new territory which the nation had so wonderfully acquired. Cortez had overrun and conquered Mexico; Vaca had traversed the continent from Florida to the Gulf of California; Ulloa, Mendoza and Ximenes had traced the shores of that Gulf and skirted those of the peninsula of Lower California; Alarcon had sailed up the Colorado River; Coronado had reached the plains of Kansas.

It was in 1542 that these long-continued efforts of the treasure hunters were finally directed to the northwestern coast of the continent. Mendoza was then Viceroy of Mexico and it was under his orders that the Portuguese Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo and his lieutenant Ferrollo, with two small vessels, the San Salvador and the Vitoria, sailed along the coast from Navidad to the 42nd degree of latitude, establishing for Spain, by right of their discoveries, dominion over all that part of the continent of North America. Cabrillo saw this part of the country from his ship but landed (and died) during the winter on the island of San Miguel.

The era of Spanish explorers practically ceased with the voyage of Cabrillo for nearly sixty years. But long before that the fond dream of Columbus of a new pathway for European commerce to the Indies had been realized. Magellan had discovered the Philippines and in a few years the islands became the shipping point for a great commerce.

It was in the hope of finding harbors of refuge for the vessels embarked in this trade that in 1602, the Conde de Monterey finally commissioned Sebastian Viscaino, to sail with his ships for the discovery "of harbors and bays of the coast of the South Sea as far as Cape Mendocino." In December of that year Viscaino landed on the shores of the Bay of San Luis Obispo.

But 167 years were still to pass before any attempt at occupation or colonization was made.

It was only in 1769, after the political destinies of the rest of the North American continent had been practically settled, that Spain, recognizing that to hold the vast territory she claimed in Alta, California, actual possession had become necessary, organized expeditions for that purpose. They were confided to the direction of Father Junipero Serra and Gaspar de Portola, names ever illustrious in the history of the state.

The political object, that of peopling the country, was largely to be attained through the conversion and civilization of the natives.

For this purpose, Missions were to be established at short distances from each other as centers of influence, and a slender military force at each, lent its assistance and protection to the padres. The objects of the expeditions were very successfully attained and many Missions were established. Among them, on September 1, 1772, Father Serra founded that of San Luis Obispo de Toloso.

The attendant ceremonies were of the simplest. The great padre arrived from Monterey accompanied by the Commandante Fages, and, as guard, a corporal and four soldiers together with Fray Joseph Caballar, of the Mission of San Antonio, to be left in charge of the new institution.

With the unerring judgment exhibited in the location of all the California missions, the site for the new home for the church was determined. It was on a low hill, skirted by perennial streams of water and sheltered by two neighboring peaks, one of which, in some aspects of its rugged summit, exhibited a triple peak, suggesting the form of a mitre and received the name of the Bishop's Peak.

Under the reign of Father Caballar, the Mission of San Luis Obispo prospered. Fertile valleys yielded huge crops, herds multiplied, and orchards reared their heads until the Mission became the wealthiest in the territory. Vessels from Mexico and the Philippines cast anchor in the harbor and carried away cargoes of hides and tallow, of wheat and olive oil. It became noted for its hospitality. A stranger might slaughter an animal from the nearest herd and it was quite understood that he had entirely met the exigencies of the case if he courteously suspended the hide where the owner of the beast could find it. And it is only in recent years that this hospitable notion has been entirely eradicated from the minds of the still existing descendants of those ancient occupants of the land.

For a while peace descended on the land. It was a golden age of slumberous, measureless content. Foreigners, not Catholic or Spanish were hurriedly deported, but in the meantime, vast changes were taking place in other parts of the continent. Immigrants from Europe were arriving in great numbers, France had acquired a splendid domain in Canada and by the fortunes of war had lost it. The "Thirteen Colonies" of England had revolted from the mother country. The Spanish possessions on the Pacific Coast were gazed at covetously by Russia and England. If Spain would hold her possessions she must prepare to defend her rights. She had slept too long upon them.

But, under the Mission leadership and with few soldiers except for defense against wild bands of Indians, it was a peaceful country and unable to change its nature over night.

It had been a time of continuous warfare in Mexico, between 1811 and 1821 and it was with bitter amazement and dismay that, in the latter year, Sola, then governor of California, beheld an armed vessel under a flag of strange design, anchoring in the Bay of Monterey. They were conquered in the name of Iturbide, Liberator and Emperor of Mexico.

A few months later the wheel of fortune turned again. Iturbide and his Empire vanished and a new revolution created the Republic of Mexico. With resignation and rapidity the Californians changed their allegiance. Within the year, they had been subjects of the Kingdom of Spain, the Empire of Mexico, and the new Republic.

The Missions were allowed to continue, although the new rulers helped themselves to the revenue of the Church and some of the Mission Fathers, including Father Luis Antonia Martinez of the Mission of San Luis Obispo fled to escape persecution.

But the Mission has remained throughout the years, despite the fact that the coffers were plundered, the bulging barns and storehouses depleted of their grain and stocks of various products, and the cattle on the hill driven off. Its quiet beauty remained, although scarred by the ravages of time. Perched upon a slight eminence with its long stretch of white walls and red-tiled roofs, the towering facade of the church, pierced and recessed for its bells and surmounted by its cross, is still a striking feature of the landscape. El Camino Real, "The King's Highway," ran before it and thousands in fast motor cars still follow the ancient trail of the Missions over asphalt and concrete to pass near that hallowed spot erected almost two centuries ago.

The history of California and San Luis Obispo is one of romance, adventure and heroic pioneering of hardy ancients. It is one of strife and bloodshed, of peace and happiness. From that day when Cabrillo, clinging to the rigging of his curious little cockle-shell vessel on a dark November day almost four centuries ago first laid eyes on

As the Mission appears today.

San Luis Obispo to its present day status as one of the outstanding counties in the State of California, is a story that would fill hundreds of pages with interesting historical reading matter. Many of the great names in history first saw the light of day with the Pacific Ocean before them and the rising sun at their backs. From that day in 1846 when California became a part of the United States and in 1849 when San Luis Obispo became one of the ten districts in the new Territory of California, it has gone forward with time, maintaining always by preservation of its missions, its names and its romance, the glory of the days that were.

Camp San Luis Obispo, Calif.
July 26, 1941.

To the Officers and Men of the 80th Brigade:

With the world once more in a chaotic state, and with nation after nation in Europe having already fallen and lost their liberties, which in turn casts an ever darkening shadow across our own beloved country, you have been called into the federal service to make ready and to prepare yourself to defend the freedom of this nation if it becomes necessary.

You have already attained a certain degree of combat efficiency, but in order to meet and to defeat the possible foe, you must continue this teamwork until this brigade is second to none. The individual initiative, ability, and courage you have already shown will, if perfected, enable this brigade to make new and glorious history in the defense of our country's freedom and way of life.

I trust that each of you will reach the goal and attain the efficiency and success you so well deserve.

Sincerely,

HISTORY OF THE 80TH INFANTRY BRIGADE

The 80th Infantry Brigade was composed of organizations formerly comprising the First Infantry Brigade, National Guard of California (excepting First Separate Squadron California Cavalry) which was commanded by Brigadier General Robert Wankowski from June, 1903, to August, 1917, when he was placed on the retired list with the rank of Major General. During the period above mentioned the California Brigade took part in every maneuver that has been held on the Pacific Coast by the combined forces of the Regular Army and the National Guard.

On June 19, 1916, the California Brigade was mustered into Federal Service at Sacramento, California, and on July 6, 1916, arrived at Nogales, Arizona, for Border Duty and served until October 18, 1916, when it was returned to Los Angeles for muster out.

The organizations composing the California Brigade, National Guard, were again mobilized for active service on March, 1917, and were mustered into the Federal service August 5, 1917, and formed the 80th Infantry Brigade, 40th Division, as follows: 145th Machine Gun Battalion (formerly First Separate Squadron, California, less Troop D), 159th Infantry (formerly Fifth California Infantry and Second California Infantry, less Second Battalion and Companies L and M, Third Battalion), 160th Infantry (formerly Seventh California Infantry, Second Battalion, and Companies L and M, Third Battalion, Second California Infantry).

The 80th Brigade was formerly commanded by Brigadier General George H. Cameron, who was also in command of the 40th Division, from September 17, 1917, to December 8, 1917, during the absence of Major General Frederick S. Strong, Division Commander, who had gone to France.

When General Cameron was appointed Major General and transferred to the Fourth Division, Brigadier General Herman Hall was assigned to command the 80th Infantry Brigade.

The first recruits to reach the Brigade for World War service were about 1,500 from Camps Lewis and Funston in October, 1917.

Immediately upon organization, there was established an intensive course of training for individual soldiers, squads, sections and platoons, by company commanders, and the establishment of regimental, separate battalion and special troop schools, by regimental, separate battalion and special troops commanders under the supervision of the Brigade Commander. This course of progressive training was pursued for a period of 16 weeks, and at its completion showed a marked degree of uniform advancement by all troops.

March 16, 1918, a beautiful "Flag of the California Republic" was presented to the 80th Infantry Brigade as a token of love and esteem of the Native Daughters of the Golden West (a California society). The flag was received by Brigadier General Hall, with an address of acceptance in behalf of the Brigade, and then turned over to the Color Company. The flag bears the inscription "California's Brigade—California Republic" and is symbolic of the period between the secession of the Territory of California from the Mexican government and its admission to statehood.

After a long training period at Camp Kearney, confidential orders were finally received and on July 26, 1918, the 80th Brigade Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment entrained at Camp Kearny for Camp Mills, New York. Other units of the Brigade followed and during the stay at Camp Mills the units were inspected and equipped for overseas duty. On August 7, 1918, the Brigade Detachment, 80th Brigade, reported aboard the British Steamship Cretic. On the next day, in a convoy composed of the "Cretic, Osterley, Balmoral Castle, Teiresias, Otranto, Empress of Russia, Guyam, Louisville, Mantor, Lapland, Metegama, and Nestor," the Brigade left for Europe.

Arriving at Liverpool, port of debarkation, the Brigade marched to Knotty Ash Rest Camp, a distance of four miles, leaving the next day for France by way of Winchester and Southampton on the S. S. "Queen Alexandria."

Debarking at Cherbourg August 24, 1918, the Brigade stayed one night at the British Rest Camp, Tour la Ville, and then took train for La Guerche (Cher) from whence they proceeded by truck to Chateau Fontenay, Nerondes, Department of Cher, France, where they established headquarters.

Changing their name with the Division to the Sixth Depot Division, the Brigade engaged in their duties of training troops for replacement. This continued until October 27, 1918, when an order came through that the 40th Division, with the exceptions of the 158th Infantry, 159th Infantry, 143rd Machine Gun Battalion, would entrain at La Guerche for St. Dizier (Department Haute-Marne). The 160th Infantry and the 145th Machine Gun Battalion left La Guerche October 28.

This was the disposition of the Brigade and its units when the Armistice was signed and they remained at these posts until ordered to leave for the United States and demobilization.

The history of the 80th Brigade began again May 6, 1929, when the 79th Brigade Headquarters, located in Los Angeles, was redesignated Headquarters, 80th Brigade. The 160th Infantry Regiment was withdrawn from the 79th Brigade and attached to the 80th Brigade, and the newly organized 185th Infantry was also attached to the new Brigade. Brigadier General Walter P. Story was transferred from the 79th Brigade to the 80th.

General Story was succeeded in command of the 80th Brigade by Colonel Harcourt Hervey, former commander of the 160th Infantry. Colonel Hervey was promoted to Brigadier General July 7, 1937.

40TH INFANTRY DIVISION

ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES

CAMP SAN LUIS OBISPO, CALIFORNIA

HEADQUARTERS, 185TH INFANTRY (RIFLE)

Office of the Regimental Commander

Camp San Luis Obispo, California,

August 15, 1941.

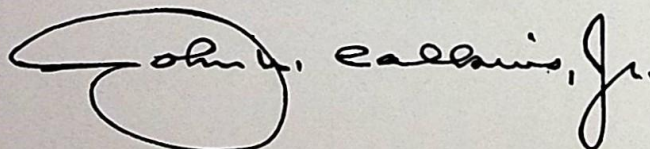

To the Officers and Men of the 185th Infantry:

It is with pride and happiness in my Regiment and yours that I write these few words of greeting to its officers and men.

We all have reason to be proud of the unselfish service which has characterized the members of this Regiment since the day of its organization. It is my earnest hope that this same spirit of service shall continue.

In this our present national emergency the Regiment has pledged itself to steadfast effort in support of the cause of national defense. I know full well that in this effort it will acquit itself as a good American regiment should, and that in the days to come its performance will be a source of great pride and satisfaction to its members and the civilian population of our country as well.

Faithfully yours,

BLAZONRY

Crest: The approved crest of the National Guard of California: On a wreath of the colors (argent and azure) the setting sun behind a grizzly bear passant on a grassy field all proper.

Shield: Azure, on a canton argent a chevron and a fleur-de-lis of the first.

Motto: Nunquam non paratus (Never unprepared).

DESCRIPTION

Crest: California, the Sunset State, the Golden Gate Commonwealth. The grizzly bear was on the flag of the California Republic. The original white settlement within the state was of Spanish origin and the twists of the wreath are accordingly gold and red.

Shield: The shield is blue for Infantry. The canton in silver—the old Infantry color—charged with the chevron from the arms of the 184th Infantry and the fleur-de-lis from the arms of the 160th Infantry indicate descent from those organizations.

HISTORY OF THE 185TH INFANTRY

The 185th Infantry Regiment (Rifle) was organized at Fresno, April 1, 1929, after years of effort on the part of Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt to obtain authority to maintain additional organizations.

The units of the 185th Infantry Regiment (Rifle) were stationed at various points throughout California from Oakdale to the southern section, including Anaheim, but excluding Los Angeles.

Fresno was the organization point for all the special units. Company C, 185th Infantry Regiment, was redesignated Headquarters Company, 185th Infantry Regiment, and Captain Leon H. Camy became the commander. The old Headquarters Company, First Battalion of the 184th, became Service Company of the 185th with Captain Earl G. Granger in command. First Lieutenant Lucius Powers, Jr., was placed in command of the Howitzer Company, which was organized as an entirely new unit. The Medical Department Detachment was formerly Medical Department Detachment of the 184th Infantry Regiment. This Detachment was placed under command of Major Frank K. Pomeroy, Regimental Surgeon.

The First Battalion consisted of redesignated units of the 184th Infantry Regiment, and was placed under command of Captain James E. Sparks, in lieu of Major. Headquarters Company, First Battalion, located at Oakdale, and commanded by First Lieutenant Nolan W. Ferguson, was formerly Headquarters, Third Battalion, 184th Infantry Regiment. The location of Company A, 185th Infantry, was at Turlock, with Captain Leonard L. McGee in command. Company A was formerly Company A, 184th Infantry Regiment. Company B of the 184th was redesignated Company B, 185th. Its location was Hanford and was under the command of Captain Elwood O. Powers. Company C, 185th Infantry Regiment, Modesto, was placed under command of Captain William B. O'Shea. This company was formerly Company K of the 184th Infantry. On March 1, 1932, however, Company C, 185th Infantry Regiment, was redesignated Company C, 184th Infantry, and a new Company C, 185th Infantry, was organized at Riverside. Company D of the 185th, popularly known as "Visalia's Own," as it was located in Visalia, was formerly Company D of the 184th. The commander of Company D was Captain Thomas J. Stevenson. Headquarters Company, First Battalion, now known as Headquarters Detachment, First Battalion, was mustered out about July 1, 1940, at Oakdale and a new Headquarters Detachment, First Battalion, was organized at Visalia, Tulare County, July 8, 1940, under the command of Lieutenant Eugene W. Wise.

The Second Battalion, under command of Major William R. Jackson, was composed of new organizations, with the exception of Companies F and H, which were formerly units of the 160th Infantry Regiment. Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, 185th Infantry, was located at Pasadena, where it was organized and mustered in on April 1, 1929, under command of First Lieutenant Clayton B. Atkinson. Captain Lynn P. Chunning commanded the new Company E, 185th Infantry, which was mustered in at Orange on April 9, 1929. On March 5, 1930, Company E, 185th Infantry Regiment, was redesignated and became Company I of the 185th. A new Company E was organized at Monrovia on the same date. Company F, 185th Infantry Regiment, was a redesignation of Company F, 160th Infantry. Captain Donald Winans commanded the company, which was located at Santa Ana. On March 5, 1930, Company F, 185th Infantry Regiment, was redesignated Company L of the Regiment. A new Company F, commanded by Captain A. Annan Cook, was organized at Pomona on March 10, 1930. Company G, 185th Infantry Regiment, was located at Riverside under command of Captain Ralph E. Johnson. This company was unique in that its membership was composed entirely of Indians, all of whom were high school students or had been graduated from high school. It is interesting to note that the company contained men skilled in electricity, carpenter work and concrete work; there were also tailors, dry cleaners, farmers, cooks and automobile mechanics. On March 5, 1930, Company G was redesignated Company K, 185th Infantry Regiment, and a new Company G was organized at Ontario on March 24, 1930. Company H, 185th Infantry Regiment, a machine-gun company, was formerly Company H, 160th Infantry. This company, located at Pasadena, was under command of Captain George E. Hutchinson.

The Third Battalion, which was under command of Major Donald L. Winans, was made up of redesignated units of the 185th Infantry, with the exception of Headquarters Company and Company M. Headquarters Company, Third Battalion, was a new company organized at Santa Ana, March 17, 1930, under command of First Lieutenant James B. Pettit. Company I was formed on March 5, 1930, by a redesignation of Company E, 185th Infantry Regiment. First Lieutenant Howard E. Chambers served in lieu of a Captain commanding this Company, which was located at Orange. The organization of Company K, 185th Infantry Regiment, was formulated by the redesignation of Company G, 185th Infantry Regiment. Company K was mustered out on May 25, 1931, and on June 16, 1931, a new Company K was organized at Santa Ana with Captain Howard L. Love in command. Company F, 185th Infantry Regiment, became Company L of that Regiment on March 5, 1930. Its commanding officer was Captain Donald L. Winans and it was located at Santa Ana. Company M, 185th Infantry Regiment, was a new company organized at San Bernardino on April 12, 1930, and was placed under command of Captain Ira N. Gilbert.

Colonel R. W. Hays, executive officer of the 184th Infantry, was transferred and placed in command of the new 185th Infantry Regiment, headquarters of which was at Fresno.

Colonel Hays was graduated from the University of California in 1911 and from the School of Jurisprudence, University of California, in 1913. In 1916 he enlisted in the California National Guard and served with the troops on the Mexican Border the same year. During the World War, he was commissioned First Lieutenant in the 91st Division. Later he was promoted Captain and placed in command of the Machine Gun Company of the 362nd Infantry overseas. He participated in the St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and Ypres-Lys offensives. In 1922, Colonel Hays was commissioned Captain in the 159th Infantry Regiment. In 1924, with the organization of the 184th Infantry Regiment, he became executive officer of that Regiment with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. After his transfer to the 185th Infantry Regiment on April 1, 1929, he was promoted to the rank of Colonel.

In April, 1929, Company A, 185th Infantry Regiment, stationed at Turlock, participated in the National Rifle Association "Military Company Team Match," and won fourth place in the Ninth Corps Area with a score of 3299/3500. This score would have taken first place in either the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth or Eighth Corps Area and would have taken second place in any other corps area except the Ninth. Twelve regular United States service teams in California participated in the match but Company A was 109 points above any other California team.

In the Times Pro-Olympic Marathon race, held June 15, 1929, Company G, "the Indian Company" of Riverside, won four out of six places—first place was won by Harry Chauca, who defeated Clarence DeMar, former Olympic champion, by over three minutes.

An interesting feature of the first year, 1930, was the organization of a Breakfast Club in Fresno, by the 185th Infantry Regiment. The members of this club would arise at dawn each Sunday morning, proceed to the Riding Academy, and, after receiving their mounts, would ride for about two hours, following the bridal path. Some of the members were not always fortunate in securing mounts they understood and at times had difficulty in retaining the poise and dignity becoming to an officer. A good substantial breakfast always followed the ride.

In January, 1931, following announcement by the Chief of the Militia Bureau of trophies and medals to be awarded in Corps Areas and state championship firing with the .22 gallery rifle, keen competition and a revival of interest in shooting with small-bore rifles resulted. The match in California was won by Company H, 185th Infantry of Pasadena.³

In the Raisin Day parade at Fresno, May 7, 1931, the Fresno units of the 185th Infantry Regiment, headed by the Staff and Regimental Band, made a very fine appearance. The band appeared for the first time in new special uniforms, which included white cap chin straps, white web belts, white silk shoulder aiglets and slacks. Governor James Rolph, Jr., Commander in Chief of the California National Guard, accompanied by a special escort, headed the parade.

In 1932, according to an official report by Major Morris Draper, Divisional Inspector, Company E, 185th Infantry Regiment, was the best trained company and far superior to any he had seen in the 40th Division that year.

The 185th Infantry Regiment won first place with a lead of 24 points in the State Regimental Rifle Team shoot at Camp San Luis Obispo, July 21 and 22, 1932.

In the early part of 1933, the Chief of Infantry of the War Department designated the Combat Squad of Company G, 185th Infantry (Ontario), as a member of the Chief of Infantry's team. The 185th Infantry was the second regiment of the California National Guard to win that honor.

At Camp San Luis Obispo on Sunday, July 15, 1934, the day was balmy and the guardsmen were lazily following whatever pursuits attracted their fancy. Suddenly, at 2 p. m., there was a bugle call summoning the officers to the Colonel's tent. The 185th Infantry entrained at San Luis Obispo for the San Francisco strike area just at the close of the day and arrived at the Third Street Station, San Francisco, at about 2 a. m. a Gas and Riot Detachment moved to Pier 50-B and vicinity. Company C received the honors for the 185th Infantry Regiment. That company was stationed at an outpost several miles from the rest of the regiment in a spot where trouble was most likely to occur. On Saturday night, July 21, trouble did occur. Three men in an automobile fired on two of the sentries of Company C. The sentries, with the cool judgment of veterans, returned the fire, but instead of firing to kill, fired on the car to stop it. The troops took the offenders into custody. The guardsmen were glad when the emergency was past and were happy to get home again.

The Armistice Day celebration of 1934 for Fresno County was held at Fresno and lasted three days—Saturday, Sunday and Monday. On the first two days a squadron of Marine Corps planes from San Diego gave an exhibition of formation flying at the local airport. The special units of the 185th Infantry furnished approximately 100 men to guard the field. The large parade held on Monday was about four miles long and was participated in by the 185th Infantry Regimental Staff and four special units.

In 1935 a caliber pistol match between Company H, 185th Infantry and the 11th United States Infantry, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana, was won by Company H. This company defeated its Regular Army competitors by 13 points. The match was 25 shots at 20 yards by a 10-man team, the five high scores counting.

Rifle Squad No. 3 of Company G, Ontario, 185th Infantry Regiment, won the combat award for scoring the greatest number of hits in the regiment in 1935. Company G was in competition with 19 other California National Guard units. This was the second time the company had produced a championship rifle squad.

After 18 days of week-end firing during the spring of 1935 on the Padus Hills Range, in competition with 120 rifle units of the State of California, Company F, 185th Infantry Regiment, won the Centennial Trophy for proficiency in marksmanship. That company emerged with an enviable record of 31 experts, 17 sharpshooters and marksmen.

The members of Company E, 185th Infantry Regiment, experienced a unique pay day during the latter part of November, 1936. They received their quartely pay in brand new silver dollars instead of the customary government checks. There were approximately 1,200 shiny new silver dollars on the table from which the paymaster gave each one his pay. The reason for the strange pay day was just to give the citizens of Monrovia an idea of the actual cash value of the Guard unit stationed there.

After the inspection of Company G, Ontario, by the Federal inspector, the latter wrote at the bottom of his 1937 Federal inspection report these encouraging words: "This is an outstanding company. The personal appearance and soldierly bearing of both officers and enlisted men are indicative of discipline, training and a high sense of duty. The company has a high standing in the community."

Taken as a whole the 185th Infantry Regiment is a very efficient organization and each year the members are striving for a less distant goal of perfection. The 185th Infantry is a most important cog in the wheel of the California National Guard.

During the year 1940 a new organization was included within the regiment and designated the Antitank Company. It was organized in Fresno, California, under the command of Captain John W. Guerard. Federal recognition was extended it on December 17, 1940.

The 185th Infantry Regiment (Rifle) entered active Federal service on March 3, 1941.
